

On the flavor composition of the high-energy neutrinos in IceCube

viernes, 19 de septiembre de 2014 11:15 (35)

The IceCube experiment has recently released 3 years of data of the first ever detected high energy neutrinos, which are consistent with an extraterrestrial origin. In this talk I will discuss the compatibility of this observation with possible combinations of neutrino flavors and its implications.

Summary

Presenter(s) : PALOMARES-RUIZ, Sergio (IFIC)